GUIDE TO GETTING YOUR LICENSE

Welcome

We welcome you to the City's Business License. All individuals and businesses performing work within the city limits, whether or not they have a physical location in the City, are required to have a business license. This includes contractors, internet-based, and home-based businesses. Business License holders must display their license in public view at all times. Note: Non-profits and certain businesses are exempt from paying fees under the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of laws of the State of California but still must secure a license with the City. The type of license you will need depends on the category of business you have. Our goal is to make your business registration and licensing process simple and convenient. This guide will assist you in that process.

Established in July 2013, the City's Business License Program replaces the County of Los Angeles Business License Program in which current businesses in Agoura Hills formally participated. The City's Business License program was designed to make business licensing more convenient and efficient than in the past. It was also designed to assist the City's effort to maintain a more accurate record of businesses operating within the City limits for economic development, zoning compliance and public safety purposes. Business licensing is now solely provided by the City of Agoura Hills at City Hall. There is no longer a need to visit the Los Angeles County Treasurer and Tax Collector Division for that purpose. There still may be interaction with other County Departments, depending on the type of business you operate. Know that we are here to assist you.

Most businesses can be approved in very little time. Once it is established that the business is permitted in the zone, a business owner wants to locate in the City, the task of the Planning Department is to verify that there is a sufficient supply of parking. This process may require the assistance of the property management companies' representative in providing an updated list of all the businesses sharing the same building.

Even though residents can conduct business out of their home, home occupation permits are issued as an ancillary use to the residence and are subject to the Home Occupation Guidelines designed to protect the privacy and tranquility of the residential neighborhood. The Home Occupation Guidelines are available in the Planning Department.

Some uses require the approval of a Conditional Use Permit by the Planning Commission. The list of businesses requiring a Conditional Use Permit can be found in the City's Zoning Ordinance, via the City Website (municipal code) or in person at City Hall. Applications are available in the Planning Department. Upon obtaining the Conditional Use Permit, the applicant is permitted to submit tenant improvement plans into the Building and Safety Department. In order to review plans in an efficient and timely manner, our process allows concurrent review by other department and outside agencies.

Zoning

Non-Discretionary Review

Most business licenses can be approved in very little time. Once it is established that the business is permitted in the zone, the task of the Planning Department is to verify that there is a sufficient supply of on-site parking at that business. This process may require the assistance of the property management companies in providing an updated list of all the businesses sharing the same property. The fees are collected at the time of submittal and a license can be issued fairly quickly.

Home Business

Even though residents can conduct a business out of their home, home business occupation permits are issued as an ancillary use to the residence and are subject to the Home Occupation Guidelines rules designed to protect the privacy and tranquility of the residential neighborhood. Guidelines are available on the City's website and in the Planning Department.

Discretionary Review

Some uses require the approval of a Conditional Use Permit by the Planning Commission. The list of businesses requiring a Conditional Use Permit can be found in the Zoning Ordinance. Applications are available in the Planning Department. Upon obtaining the Conditional Use Permit, the applicant is permitted to submit tenant improvement plans in the Building and Safety Department. In order to review plans in an efficient and timely manner, our process allows concurrent review by other departments and outside agencies. A business license will be issued solely upon approval of all the agencies.
